DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over York in view of Armstrong.

4. York discloses a housing(10), a calculator (16) integral with the housing, apertures (34) and all of the claimed invention except for mounting apertures formed on a second edge of the assembly . Armstrong teaches that it is well known in the art to provide mounting apertures(some slotted)on a second edge an assembly. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide York with mounting apertures formed on a second edge of his assembly in the manner as taught by Armstrong in order to provide another mounting option for the assembly.

Art Unit: 3722

5. In regard to claim 2, the number of apertures used would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to., since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis Paper Co. V Bemis Co., 193USPQ8.

6. In regard to claims 3 and 4, the type of binder used would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made since the examiner takes Official Notice of the equivalence of the prior art binder of York and the claimed binders for their use in the printed matter and binding art and the selection of any of these known equivalents to would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

In response to applicant's argument that Armsrong is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Armstrong is clearly an information carrier/ data storage device and is deemed to be analogous to the claimed invention.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, applicant's attention is directed to column 2, lines 67 and 68 and column 3, lines 1-12 of Armstrong which provides the motivation.

In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
